NEIGHBORHOOD

ASSOCIATION

DIRECTORY

Fourth Edition Fall 2002

Table of Contents

	Page
--	-------------

Section I.....	5-9
-----------------------	------------

This section contains an introduction of the directory which briefly explains it's purpose. The directory also contains a brief overview of Greenville, and a Vision Area Map taken from the City of Greenville Horizons Plan.

Section II.....	10-136
------------------------	---------------

This section contains the contact person's name, address and telephone number, for each of the associations. These associations are listed in alphabetical order and assigned coordinate number (#) so the neighborhood can be easily located on the map entitled Greenville Subdivision Grid, on page 137i.

Information about the associations, such as: the boundaries, the number (#) of dwellings, the meeting time, and place is provided within this section. The data was obtained through telephone and mail surveys of all identifiable associations/neighborhoods. This section also contain maps of each neighborhood which have a formal association. This section gives the user some idea about the neighborhood associations composition, activities, and location.

Section III.....	137-144
-------------------------	----------------

This section contains a list of Greenville's subdivisions. The subdivisions list contain names, grid coordinates, community watch status and the municipal electoral districts in which the subdivisions are located. This section also contain a map entitled Greenville Subdivision Grid on page 137i. The neighborhoods grid coordinates may be used with this map to find the general location of the subdivision.

Section IV.....	145-147
------------------------	----------------

This section contains a list of mobile home parks located within the City of Greenville. Each mobile home park is assigned a map number for easy location on the map entitled Mobile Home Parks, Greenville, on page 145i.

This section gives the user some insight as to the number and location of mobile home parks within the City of Greenville.

Introduction

Greenville's Statistics

Vision Area Map

Introduction

This directory of Greenville Neighborhood Associations is prepared annually by the City of Greenville Planning and Community Development/Neighborhood Services Division to be used by the department to keep the neighborhood associations, contained herein, updated about proposed zoning changes, planning activities that will affect their neighborhoods and promote further community involvement in the planning process.

This directory may also be used by other city departments and local agencies to: contact neighborhood groups; to promote interaction between neighborhood associations; by developers to discuss their development projects with the residents that will be affected; and for others having business matters affecting these neighborhoods.

The information in this directory is the result of a well publicized effort to identify Greenville's neighborhood associations. Staff does not believe that the sixty-three (63) neighborhood associations identified represent all of the city's neighborhood associations. Therefore, the department will update this directory periodically, hoping to increase the number of associations contained herein. Those groups not listed in this directory should submit their names and information about their organization to be included in the next edition, and those neighborhoods without a formal association should consider organizing one.

There are a total of 187 subdivision and 54 mobile home parks in Greenville and it's ETJ. Staff is willing to work with subdivisions and mobile home parks to create additional neighborhood associations. Information shown is generally accurate as of September 1, 2002.

If you have general questions about neighborhood associations please contact Carl Rees (Neighborhood Services Coordinator) at (252) 329-4111, or e-mail to: crees@greenvillenc.gov.

GREENVILLE'S STATISTICS

Recent statistics indicate that Greenville's population is on the rise. According to Census 2000 figures on population, between 1990 and 2000 (a 10 year period) the population has risen by 14,263 persons or a 30.8 percent increase. This increase in population was at a higher rate than the ten (10) year period preceding (22.6 percent increase). The City's population grew by 2,552 persons between July 1996 and July 1997.

Greenville has a total of 28,145 dwelling units in which 39.3% are owner occupied units. The median value of owner-occupied units in Greenville is $110,200, which is higher than the median value for Pitt County ($96,800) and North Carolina ($108,300). The average household size for Greenville in 2000 was 2.18 persons, while Pitt County's average household size was at 2.43.
